They have a partnership with Carnegie Library which will be featuring an Apple Lab. They provide the opportunity for first responders in Union County to take classes tuition free with them only being charged for fees. They offer an on-line Associates and Bachelor Degrees program. Community Development Director Kathy Jo Lancaster introduced James Knox and Ben Breazeale with Charter to give an overview of the broadband buildout in Union County. Mr. Ben Breazeale stated Union County is a very rural county which is not great for broadband. The federal government released the FCC Program called RDOF which is the Rural Digital Opportunity Fund for which Charter was the largest recipient in the State of South Carolina for forty different counties. They have until 2027 to buildout the areas in those counties. Union County will be done in 2022 and 2023. They estimate 2,793 locations that should be added for service at no cost to the county since it is being done under the federal subsidy. They estimate in 2022 that 1,280 locations and 178 miles of fiber will be completed. The total project will be over 330 miles of fiber optics for the 2,293 locations which is projected to be completed by the third quarter of 2023. They estimated there were 750 homes that are not included in the current project. The County is planning to apply for a State NTIA Grant to cover those.
